

HAVE YOU SET YOUR DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION VISION?

Digital transformation (DX) starts with an inspiring vision and empowered teams. However, a vision alone is not enough. Employees need to understand the vision's importance, know how to contribute, and be confident of making a difference. Here are some tips to get started.

DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION PLANS vs REALITY

70%

digital transformation efforts in Asia Pacific (APAC) fail¹

Lack of leadership ranks second in contributing to this as it's seen as an IT project, rather than a business-wide effort.

59%

leaders in APAC are prioritising shared adoption of a strategic vision to support successful digital transformation²

3 KEY QUESTIONS YOUR DX VISION SHOULD AIM TO ANSWER

Why digital transformation and what are its benefits?

What technology will help us achieve our DX goals?

How to measure DX success and ensure stakeholder support?

NEXT, DEFINE THE BUSINESS PROBLEM OR OPPORTUNITY

Maximizing the benefits of process automation and AI requires inspiring teams to embrace these DX solutions for better work efficiency. How can you motivate your employees to adopt these changes?

STEP 1

FORM A SMALL TEAM TO CHAMPION AND MANAGE DX TRANSFORMATION

Your DX champions need in-depth understanding of Internal business processes

(e.g. insurance, or processes where you're not able to consult externally)

Available market technology

Strategy for the DX journey and its objectives

The importance of ROI measurement

STEP 2

FIND OUT GROUND SENTIMENT TO GRASP EMPLOYEE ISSUES WITH DX

Quick ways your new DX team can gather ground feedback about your current tech solutions

Hold focus groups

Discuss with tech suite users to gather feedback on strengths and areas for improvement.

Monitor user data

Analyze tech suite usage for patterns and identify low usage or issues for valuable insights to improve.

Conduct surveys

Gather tech feedback from team members with open-ended questions to assess user-friendliness, effectiveness, and satisfaction.
