

Your Design. Your Teamwork.
Kintone Business Solution

Matched for Proven Solutions

In today's digital and fast-paced economy, we know it can be difficult for companies to remain competitive and up-to-date. That's why we've made it our business to understand the present and potential challenges that stand in your way.

A need for a more effective and cost-efficient way to design workflows within the existing company infrastructure without heavy technical implementation

Accumulated data has become too cluttered and unorganised, often using outdated and complicated spreadsheets

Tracking the status and accountability of each project is becoming too tedious and time-consuming

Having too many data and communication tools causes confusion within the team, creating a greater risk for work errors

The Platform for Collaboration

No matter the challenge, we've got your back. And it starts with Kintone, an all-in-one workplace platform that allows highly collaborative teams to build, share, and automate custom workflows and processes for data-driven results.

It's as simple as choosing one of our ready-to-use apps or creating one on your own, with no coding skills required. From optimising a completely new process to a new step in your workflow, discover just how effortless building your own business app can be with Kintone.

Teamwork Designed by You

Whether you're an emerging brand or an expanding enterprise, Kintone gives you the power to create custom systems that fit your team's distinct office needs. With its simple drag-and-drop interface, anyone can design flexible work and communication flows with a quick click of a button.

1

Organise:

Data gathered from varied sources, whether paper or digital, can be automatically organised into a uniform spreadsheet format, and saved on your central Kintone database.

2

Create:

Building an app is easy and painless, regardless of your skills, department, or responsibilities. Explore our library of 1,000 ready app templates that you can easily customise, or choose to create a new app entirely.

3

Use:

Our flexible communication tools unify your team, allowing them to freely share their data. Providing collaborative tools, Kintone allows live, inline commenting, so everyone stays in the loop.

4

Learn:

Data points can be filtered down or aggregated to provide data-driven information that can help you design automated workflows. Build your own dashboards with configurable, real-time data sets and analytics for maximum insights.
